

INTERESTING FOLK

WORLD'S AMA-TEUR CHAMPION
TYPIST, seventeen-year-old Albert Tangora, of Paterson, N.
J., who recently won the title with 151
words a minute and a sustained speed of 133 words a minute for a half hour. How many can you bang out on your trusty anti-noiseless? Underwood

WILL SHE BE MOTHER-IN-LAW
TO ENGLAND'S NEXT KING? The Duchess of Beaufort, whose beautiful
daughter, Lady Diana Somerset, London society is convinced will be the future Queen of the British Empire.
Wonder What the Prince of Wales, has to say about it?
E. O. Hoppe

SOME ONE MEN-TIONED MARCH 4 and the countenances of Vice-President-elect
and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge just had to register happiness. This snap of Massachusetts'
erstwhile Mr. and Mrs.
Governor was made in New York recently when the couple stopped off en route to their home from a vacation at Asheville, N. C. Kadel & Herbert

THE HIGHLAND FLING ON SKIS as executed during the winter sports carnival at Lake Placid Club in the Adirondacks by Miss Sigfrid Holmquist, Switzerland's feminine ski champion. And from a sad personal experience we can testify that the stunt is infinitely more difficult than it appears. Underwood

SEVENTY-SIX YEARS YOUNG.
Elihu Root caught by the camera quietly spending his seventy-sixth birthday at home. As a former Secretary of State, as a member of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate, by his labors in the international field and by the prestige he enjoys abroad. The Tribune believed Mr.
Root should have headed Mr. Harding's Cabinet. Keystone

SPEAKING OF NECKLACES, this sad-faced old squaw of a Seminole chieftain from somewhere in Florida, seems to hold the record. She wears a string of highly colored beads for each year of her age. Count 'em and learn her secret.
Polemus, C. of C. Mavis

Left—MRS. H. VAN BUREN MAGONIGLE, of New York, president of National Association of Women Painters and Sculptors, whose thirtieth annual exhibition is now on at the Anderson Galleries.
Mary D. Clarke

Right—THE PER-FECT WINK. There
may be American stage beauties who are perfect blondes or who have perfect profiles, but E. O. Hoppe, the English art photographer, declares that Madge Kennedy alone possesses the "perfect wink." Madge is now on the way to her 200th performance in "Cornered." E. O. Hoppe

THE DUCHESS OF MARLBOR-OUGH from a new photo. The Duchess, formerly Consuelo Vanderbilt, daughter of the late William K. Vanderbilt and the present Mrs.
O. H. P. Belmont, is to be married to Jacques Balsan, a wealthy French sportsman. E. O. Hoppe

A PALM BEACH MERMAID. Miss Phyllis Hull, of Mount Vernon, smilingly poses in an attractive fur-trimmed bathing mode that proved quite an eye-opener for ennuied connoisseurs at that most popular winter Florida rendezvous.
International

PROBABLY THE LAST PHOTO OF CARUSO to be taken before his illness—made in his dressing room at the Metropolitan Opera House on December 11, five minutes before his performance in "La Juive." M. S. Klein

WHEN "DOUG"
STUBBED HIS TOE
attempting a dangerous leap through a window in his latest movie thriller, "The Nut"—the cinema
star took a cropper, fell six feet and got up with a broken hand, wrenched back
and strained neck.
Here's Mary's hubby hugging himself that the tumble didn't result even more disastrously. International

GREENWICH
SHOULD BE MORE POPULAR THAN EVER. Miss Alice J.
O'Neill, first woman justice of the peace of that old Connecticut town, a Gretna Green for New York
couples. Marrying folks is the chief job of a J. P. and Miss O'Neill wondered what would happen if she continued the established precedent of kissing one of the contracting duo.
Should she kiss the groom? The first newly declared husband decided the question for Miss O'Neill by gallantly kissing her hand.
